DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1 – 9 and 19 – 25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Yoshioka et al (US Patent Application Publication US 2002/0027080 A1).

3. In re claims 1 and 19, Yoshioka, in the US Patent Application Publication US 2002/0027080 A1; figures 1 – 30 and related text, discloses providing a wet processing tank within a protection bath; wherein the wafer is to be placed within the wet processing tank (Figure 1); providing a sensor apart from the wafer within said wet processing tank wherein said sensor continuously counts bubbles formed within the wet processing tank in a time interval (Figure 1); and querying said sensor wherein if a bubble count within said time interval exceeds a trigger point, then an alarm is given and said wafer is not placed into said wet processing tank (¶ 0079); and whereby floating of the wafer, and thereby wafer breakage in the wet processing tank are prevented (¶ 0074).

4. In re claims 2 and 20, Yoshioka discloses further comprising turning on the sensor when chemical circulation occurs within the wet processing tank (¶ 0079).

5. In re claims 3 and 21, Yoshioka discloses further including checking if the sensor emits an "OFF" signal wherein if said "OFF" signal is emitted for more than a threshold time period, then the alarm is given and the wafer is not placed into the wet processing tank (¶ 0079).
6. In re claims 4 and 22, Yoshioka discloses wherein the wet processing includes wet stripping, wet etching, or rinsing (Abstract).
7. In re claims 5 and 23, Yoshioka discloses wherein the bubbles are caused by boiling of liquid within said wet processing tank (¶ 0078).
8. In re claims 6 and 24, Yoshioka discloses wherein the bubbles are caused by air being sucked into a circulation loop and thus into said wet processing tank (¶ 0079).
9. In re claims 7 and 19, Yoshioka discloses further including providing an outer tank surrounding said wet processing tank wherein said chemical circulation includes a chemical liquid circulating out of the outer tank, through a pump, and into the processing tank (Figure 1).
10. In re claims 8, 19 and 25, Yoshioka discloses wherein the chemical liquid further travels through a heater, a filter and several air valves (Figure 1).
11. In re claims 9 and 19, Yoshioka discloses wherein the chemical liquid travels through said sensor prior to traveling through said pump (Figure 1).

Response to Arguments

12. Applicant's arguments filed 25 June 2007 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive for the following reasons.

Applicant contests that Yoshioka does not teach the limitation "a sensor apart from said wafer."

Examiner respectfully submits that Yoshioka implicitly discloses such limitation in paragraph 0079. Yoshioka discloses that deaerator unit 328 checks for dissolved gases. Hence, the 35 USC §102(b) rejection stands and it is considered proper.

Conclusion

13. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

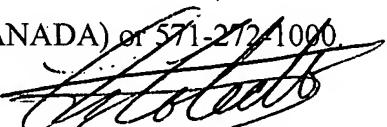

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
